

About the IEEE Press Computational Intelligence Series

The IEEE Computational Intelligence Society sponsors a book series on computational intelligence which is edited by Dr. David B. Fogel and published by Wiley-IEEE Press. Dr. Jialin Liu serves as the society's liaison to Wiley-IEEE Press.

The book series publishes high-quality, authoritative monographs, texts, and edited volumes on timely and practical topics within the scope of the society. New publications proposals are always solicited.

Why Publish with Wiley-IEEE Press?

- Prestige of Wiley-IEEE Brand
- Visibility and Wide Distribution
- Editorial Guidance and Support
- Marketing Support
- Continuing Author Support
- Competitive Royalties

Benefits to Readers

- Readers can download chapters separately from IEEE Xplore
- IEEE members receive a 35% discount on all books on wiley.com by emailing ieeepress@ieee.org with their IEEE member number

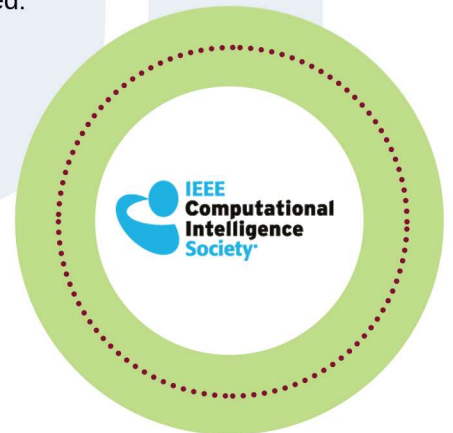

Publish with Wiley-IEEE Press and the IEEE Computational Intelligence Society

If you would like more information on existing books in the series, or would like to contribute to the series, please contact:

Dr. David Fogel at dfogel@natural-selection.com

Or

Dr. Jialin Liu at liujl@sustech.edu.cn

Visit: <https://cis.ieee.org/publications/ieee-press-books>

IEEE PRESS

WILEY

 IEEE
Advancing Technology
for Humanity